Do not miss this opportunity to visit the Lingenfelter Collection and meet Ken Lingenfelter.

What started out as five cars packed into a modest three-car garage has grown into a huge, beautiful collection of unique cars in a 40,000 square foot space. Included is an outstanding collection of rare Corvettes.

While the collection is not open to the public, it is available for corporate and charity events.

Donations received from events held at The Collection go to The Lingenfelter Foundation which supports several charitable organizations such as The American Cancer Society, The Pink Fund, Ronald McDonald House, and many more

Join us along with the Detroit Section to hear from Guest Speaker, Laura Klauser, and tour this unique personal collection put together by Ken Lingenfelter, who has an appreciation for stylish, high-performance autos that includes significant muscle cars, Corvettes, and exotic European cars from around the world.

Ken's founded success in the real estate settlement industry had him purchasing his first Corvette in 1977. Having sold his company, he dedicated his time to growing his collection. As his passion grew for speed and excellence, it led him to purchase the assets of Lingenfelter Performance Engineering, a company founded by his distant cousin John Lingenfelter. Many of the Lingenfelter Performance Engineering products have been instrumental in establishing performance thresholds.
